

Uniface

Artifact Type: Uniface

Material: Basalt, Granite, Lithic, and Petrified Wood

Description: A type of prehistoric stone tool that has been flaked on both sides (faces). This tool had many uses which made it a versatile tool. The cutting edge could be straight or jagged and the tool was used as a pick, knife, scraper, or even weapon.

Nisqually Archives Department

4820 She-Nah-Num Drive S.E.

Olympia, WA 98513

Phone: (360) 456-5221